WELCOMING REMARKS

Dear Delegates,

On behalf of the International Association for the Study of Sexuality, Culture and Society (IASSCS), the Social Anthropology Department of Universidad Complutense de Madrid, the Organizing Committee of the VIII International Conference “Naming and Framing: The Making of Sexual (In) Equality” and our funders and sponsors, I am very pleased to welcome you all to Madrid, Spain, to participate in this conference.

I would like to thank the IASSCS Board for selecting our city and our university to be the site for this biennial conference. We are honored to be your hosts for this wonderful event and we welcome you to Spain. We hope that while you are here, you have an opportunity to experience our rich culture and wonderful art, music and of course, our cuisine! As our opening panel will present, in the past forty years with the arrival of democracy to Spain, sexuality has become a primary arena for obtaining rights, freedom and personal fulfillment. Yet, in the recent history of our country, many Spaniards have experienced the extent to which sexuality is also is a means for repression and social control of minds and bodies.

In the last decades, Spain has assumed a leading role both domestic and internationally in recognizing sexual rights for women, sexual minorities and for the population in general. We owe this in major part to the implementation of various laws and public policies that place gender and sexual equality at center stage. Still, our country is far from being a paradise for equality, as the domain of sexuality continues to be the battleground around issues of equality and inequality and as well, progress and discrimination, not only in Spain but throughout the world.

The academia and the scientific community are well positioned and retain strategic powers that can effectively contribute to overcoming this situation. Over the next few days, this community will come together to report on research focused on the way sexual inequalities are constructed and questioned, and to reflect on the ways to more effectively promote equality. We will share and discuss our findings, our approaches, and our lessons learned in the promotion of sexual equality in academia and advocacy venues.

IASSCS Conferences have traditionally been an important and strategic place for bringing together academics, advocates and activists, given that our Association is primarily concerned with the need to create sufficient spaces for mutual collaborative efforts and enrichment. In this VIII Conference we have put a strong emphasis on integrating the work of policy makers, not only in the discussions that will take place, but more importantly in identifying the solutions and the means to confront and overcome inequality. In that light, we have accepted abstracts and presentations both in English and in Spanish, with the objective of more effectively promoting the exchange of viewpoints and experiences among local and global participants.

With more than 400 delegates, we are proud to report that this is the largest IASSCS Conference ever. Despite the huge economic crisis Spain is and has been experiencing (and will for the foreseeable future), we have managed to organize and enact this conference. We would first like to thank our funders for their generous support and also, many thanks goes to the IASSCS Secretariat for all its support and effort. On behalf of the International and Local Organizing Committee, together with a great executive team, we hope that all of our effort during the last 18 months will provide you with a wonderful experience and a very productive conference.
We sincerely hope that you enjoy this conference and we are certain that we will all learn many new lessons from the presentations and exchanges that will take place here, all conducted with the intent to continue our mission to build a better and more egalitarian world.

José Ignacio Pichardo Galán

La Secretaria de Estado de Igualdad

SALUDA

A todos los participantes en la VIII Conferencia de la Asociación Internacional para el Estudio de la Sexualidad, la Cultura y la Sociedad que se celebrará del 6 al 9 de julio de 2011 en Madrid.

El Gobierno de España desde el año 2004 ha situado entre sus prioridades la lucha en favor de la igualdad y contra todo tipo de discriminación desplegando una intensa actividad en favor del reconocimiento de los derechos de las personas LGTB, que nos han situado a la vanguardia de los países de nuestro entorno en materia de derechos civiles

Por tanto, aprovecho esta ocasión para sumarme a los objetivos de esta Conferencia que, bajo el lema "Nombrar y definir. La construcción de la (des)igualdad sexual", permitirá a expertos de todo el mundo compartir los resultados de sus investigaciones, propuestas políticas y reflexiones en cuestiones de sexualidad desde un punto de vista sociocultural.

Deseándoles el mayor de los éxitos, les transmito mi consideración más distinguida,

Bibiana Aído Almagro

WORKSHOPS

July 07th, 16:30 to 19:00 hrs

Room: Aula 5
Editors’ Meeting: Setting standards for capacity building in academic writing in SRHR.

This meeting, co-organized by ESE:O and IASSCS, aims at moving the conversation forward regarding how to promote an increase of publications by young researchers from the South of high-quality, rights-based research in SRHR in leading international journals, and how to evaluate initiatives aimed at democratizing the field. The meeting will focus on developing strategies to provide standards and indicators to measure the success and impact of capacity building and knowledge transfer programs in scientific writing and networking.

By invitation only.

July 08th, 17:00 to 19:00 hrs

Room: Sala Shüller
Capacity building in academic writing for publication on SRHR: The ESE:O Methodology and experience.

This workshop aims to create awareness about serious barriers that prevent researchers from the South to have access to publication in leading peer-reviewed journals in the field of Sexuality and Reproductive Health and Rights, by sharing the experience of a South-South collaboration project of capacity building in academic writing.

The workshop will provide basic tools for facing the challenge of writing and publishing in internationally recognized peer-reviewed journals, focusing on strategies for presenting research to specific international audiences. During the workshop, participants will put together a basic outline for an academic paper and will learn practical skills for planning writing and targeting it to specific publications.

RESEARCH, ADVOCACY, ACTION – A CONTINUUM - A WORKSHOP ON SEXUAL RIGHTS ADVOCACY STRATEGIES AND ACTION PLAN.
JOINTLY ORGANIZED BY IASSCS AND KARTINI ASIA NETWORK.

In the last decade, sexuality research has claimed a significant ground in the global south thus gaining a deeper understanding of lived experiences of multiple sexual identities as well as the silences, denial and oppression around issues of sexuality.

While there is a very thin and blurred line between researchers on sexuality and sexual rights activists, the generation of new conceptualization and knowledge production has had a significant impact on the activism of sexual rights activists. In many countries of the South (as well as the North) states have in place very repressive legal and/or extra legal (socio religious) mechanisms against sexual minorities. The communities struggling for decriminalization of their identities have evolved a range of very creative advocacy strategies within their national/regional realities.

The proposed workshop on advocacy for sexual rights and its relationship to research is an attempt to create an interactive platform for researchers to share and learn from each other’s experiences.

SPECIAL CULTURAL ACTIVITIES

Evening Interview with PROFESSOR JOHN GAGNON

John Gagnon is an internationally renowned sexuality researcher, sexologist, sociologist and Distinguished Emeritus Professor of Sociology at The State University at Stony Brook. He developed, with William H. Simon, the concept of “sexual scripts” as presented and discussed in their landmark publication, ‘Sexual Conduct’ (1973), a prophetic analysis of sexual behavior and the experience of that behavior as influenced by the subjective understanding of one’s sexuality.

John’s work has been influential worldwide, not only within the sociology discipline, but within the larger arena of the scientific study of sexuality and sexual relationships, across disciplines and area studies. This evening interview will be a unique opportunity to be present for an “armchair” conversation with John about the evolution of his seminal work on sexuality and his insights regarding the current status and future direction of the sexuality research field, concluding with questions from the audience.
